Course Paper for Database Systems

Every student taken DBS course is asked to write a course paper with a free subject as an alternative for the final exam evaluation.

The paper should at least cover three parts: a course content summary part, a project flashing points sharing part, and an interesting selected topic (limited to the topics in lectures) discussion part. Any comments or suggestions on the course underlying are welcomed as an optional part.

Your paper should be in the format of bachelor thesis specified by the Office of International School of JNU (only main body and reference parts, no other miscellaneous parts, neither abstract), normally with 5-7 pages, with a standard administration cover specified independently.

Please send your final version of the course paper in pdf to 1024455890@qq.com before (including) Dec. 18, 2023.
